

Update to our Customer Information Letter on Product Replacements, dated 22.11.2012

With the above referenced customer information letter, we advised the planned replacement of several antenna types with updated versions.

This information included the antenna type 80010676 planned to be replaced by the new version 80010676V01.

However, internal changes in priorities as well as missing customer demands have now resulted in a shift of the planning for this antenna. The product launch of the 80010676V01 will thus be postponed until further notice.

We wish to apologize for any inconvenience caused by this decision and trust that we receive your understanding in this matter.
